SAVANNAH, (in GEORGIA) MARCH 5.

On tuesday the 21st of February last, the following address was presented to his Excellency the governor.

To his Excellency JAMES WRIGHT, Esq; captain-general, and governor in chief, of his majesty's province of Georgia, chancellor, and vice-admiral of the same.

The humble ADDRESS of the commons house of assembly.

May it please your excellency,

WE his majesty's most dutiful and loyal subjects, the commons house of assembly of the province of Georgia, beg leave to represent to your excellency, that this present assembly having continued for three years, and there being no provision made in the election law for limitting its duration, we are therefore under the necessity of earnestly requesting your excellency to dissolve the general assembly before the usual time of meeting in the ensuing fall, as it would not only be inconvenient for many of the members of the commons house, but even highly detrimental to their private affairs, if they were obliged to give their attendance during any longer period. We cannot let slip this opportunity of testifying the grateful sense we have of your excellency's ready and chearful concurrence with us in every measure proposed by us for promoting the true interests of this province; and we hope that the remarkable unanimity which has subsisted betwixt all the branches of the legislature, and our having co-operated heartily with your excellency in every matter you have been pleased to recommend to us, will be an incontestible proof of the opinion which the representatives of the people have of the wisdom and uprightness of your administration; and it gives them the greatest pleasure to find their judgment on this important point, confirmed and supported by the general voice of the province.

Assembly Room, By order of the House,
February 21st, 1764. LEWIS JOHNSON, Speaker.

To which his Excellency was pleased to return the following

ANSWER.

Gentlemen,

ALTHOUGH the duration of assemblies is not fixed to any particular period in this province, yet it is not to be supposed that a governor will ever exercise any part of his power injuriously to the people; and hope, whilst I have the honour to preside here, I never shall. That remarkable unanimity which has hitherto subsisted amongst us must afford great satisfaction.

I thank you for your chearful concurrence and support in every matter I have at any time thought necessary to recommend to you, and think myself very much obliged to you for the generous sense you express of a general approbation of my conduct: and you may rest assured, that, agreeable to your request, I shall dissolve the present assembly, and order writs to be issued for the choice of another, before the usual time for going on business in the fall.

Feb. 24th, 1764. JAMES WRIGHT.

Yesterday his excellency went to the council-chamber, and, after giving his assent to several bills, made the following

SPEECH.

Gentlemen of the council,
Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the assembly,

BEFORE I put an end to this session, I cannot omit returning you thanks, for your attention in framing and settling such of the bills now assented to as were particularly recommended by me, and for that disposition which every individual has shewn, to co-operate with me in those things that I judged for his maj sty's service, and the good of the province; and I must also give you my very sincere thanks for the repeated marks of respect shewn, and confidence reposed in me, during the course of this session.

Nothing, gentlemen, can tend more to promote the farther prosperity of this very flourishing colony, than a continuance of that great unanimity which we have hitherto had the happiness to enjoy, and of the general harmony that appears throughout the whole province.

Savannah Council-Chamber, Feb. 29th, 1764. JAMES WRIGHT.

Gentlemen, I now prorogue this general assembly until tuesday the 10th day of July next, and the same is accordingly hereby prorogued until that time. JAMES WRIGHT.

SAVANNAH, MARCH 8.

His majesty's ship Epreuve, having got new masts, rigging, and other repairs, now lies at Cockspur, and we hear, will sail for England the beginning of next week.

Among the acts passed last session of the general assembly of this province, were the following, viz.

An act for the punishment of vagabonds and other idle and disorderly persons; and for erecting prisons or places of security in the several parishes of this province; and for preventing trespasses on lands of the crown, or lands reserved for the Indians; and for the more effectual suppressing and punishing persons harbouring with Indians in the woods.

An act for granting to his majesty the sum of two thousand one hundred and seventeen pounds thirteen shillings and three farthings sterling, for the use and support of the government of Georgia, for the year one thousand seven hundred and sixty-four, to be raised at certain rates, and after the method therein mentioned, and for the more effectual collecting of arrears.

An act for appointing commissioners to rebuild the Court-house in the town of Savannah, with Jury-rooms and other conveniencies necessary for the said house, and to impower the said commissioners to dispose of the materials of the old court-house.

An act to enable the commissioners appointed in and by act of the general assembly of this province, intituled, An act for the repairing of Christ-Church in Savannah, to dispose of such materials as have already been provided for rebuilding of the said church in Savannah, and to place out at interest the monies provided by several acts of assembly for repairing and rebuilding of the said Church, and now in the hands of the Treasurer. And

An ordinance re-appointing William Knox, Esq; agent to solicit the affairs of this province in Great-Britain.

BOSTON, FEBRUARY 13.

Wednesday last the Rev. Mr. George Whitefield, preached his farewel sermon, in the Rev. Mr. Byles's Meeting-house at New-London, and we hear was soon to set out for this place.

NEW-YORK, FEBRUARY 20.

Yesterday evening the Venus transport, Capt. Duffield, arrived here from Pensacola, in seven weeks, with the officers, and about 100 men, belonging to the 3d battalion of the Royal Americans.

On saturday last the city was alarmed with the news of great numbers of armed men, from the Frontiers, being on the several roads, and moving towards Philadelphia. As their designs were unknown, and there were various reports concerning them, it was thought prudent to put the city in some posture of defence against any outrages that might possibly be intended. The inhabitants being accordingly called upon by the governor, great numbers of them entered into an association, and took arms for the support of government, and maintenance of good order.

Six companies of foot, one of artillery, and two troops of horse, were formed, and paraded; to which it is said, some thousands who did not appear, were prepared to join themselves, in case any attempt should be made against the town. The barracks also, where the Indians are lodged, under protection of the regular troops, were put into a good posture of defence; several works being thrown up about them, and eight pieces of cannon planted there.

The insurgents, it seems, intended to rendezvous at German-Town; but the precautions taken at the several ferries over Schuylkill impeded their junction; and those who assembled there, being made acquainted with the force raised to oppose them, listened to the reasonable discourses and advice of some prudent persons, who voluntarily went out to meet and admonish them; and of some gentlemen sent by the governor, to know the reasons of their insurrection; and promised to return peaceably to their habitations, leaving only two of their number to present a petition to the governor and assembly; on which the companies raised in town were thanked by the governor on tuesday evening, and dismissed, and the city restored to its former quiet.

But on wednesday morning there was a fresh alarm, occasioned by a false report, that four hundred of the same people were on their march to attack the town. Immediately, on beat of drum, a much greater number of the inhabitants, with the utmost alacrity, put themselves under arms; but as the truth was soon known, they were again thanked by the governor, and dismissed; the country people being really dispersed and gone home according to their promise.

BY PERMISSION OF HIS EXCELLENCY.

⊙ MOSES THOMSON.

The present Degeneracy of LEARNING.

From Mr. Churchill's Poem, entitled, The Author.

WHEN Dulness rears aloft her throne.
When Lordly Vassals her wide Empire own,
When Wit, seduc'd by Envy, starts aside,
And basely leagues with Ignorance and Pride.
What now should tempt us, by false hopes misled,
Learning's unfashionable paths to tread;
To bear those labours, which our Fathers bore
That Crown withheld, which They in triumph wore?
When with much pains the boasted Learning's got,
'Tis an affront to those who have it not.
In some it causes hate, in others fear,
Instructs our Foes to rail, our Friends to sneer.
With prudent haste the worldly minded fool
Forgets the little which he learn'd at School;
The Elder Brother, to vast fortunes born,
Looks on all Science with an Eye of Scorn;
Dependent Breth'ren the same features wear,
And younger Sons are stupid as the Heir.
In Senates, at the Bar, in Church, and State,
Genius is vile, and Learning out of date.
In this—O death to think! is this the Land
Where Merit and Reward went hand in hand,
Where Heroes, Parent like, the Poet view'd?——
By whom they saw their glorious deeds renew'd;
Where Poets, true to Honour, tun'd their lays,
And by their Patrons sanctify'd their praise?
Is this the Land, where on our Spencer's tongue,
Enamour'd of his voice, Description hung;
Where Johnson rigid Gravity beguil'd,
Whilst Reason thro' her Critic fences smil'd;
Where Nature list'ning stood, whilst Shakespear play'd,
And wonder'd at the work herself had made?
Is this the Land, where, mindful of her charge
And office high, fair Freedom walk'd at large;
Where, finding in our Laws a sure defence,
She mock'd at all restraints, but those of Sense;
Where, Health and Honour trooping by her side,
She spread her sacred empire far and wide;
Pointed the way, Affliction to beguile,
And bade the face of Sorrow wear a smile,
Bade those, who dare obey the gen'rous call,
Enjoy her blessings, which God meant for all?
Is this the Land, where, in some Tyrant's reign,
When a weak, wicked Ministerial train,
The tools of pow'r, the slaves of int'rest, plann'd
Their Country's ruin, and with bribes unman'd
Those wretches, who, ordain'd in Freedom's cause,
Gave up our liberties, and sold our laws;
When Pow'r was taught by Meanness where to go,
Nor dar'd to love the Virtue of a foe;
When, like a lep'rous plague, from the foul head
To the foul heart her sores Corruption spread,
Her iron arm when stern Oppression rear'd,
And Virtue, from her broad base shaken, fear'd
The scourge of Vice; when, impotent and vain,
Poor Freedom bow'd the neck to Slavery's chain;
Is this the Land, where, in some worst of times,
The hardy Poet rais'd his honest rhimes
To dread rebuke, and bade controulment speak
In guilty blushes on the villain's cheek,
Bade Pow'r turn pale, kept mighty rogues in awe,
And made them fear the Muse, who fear'd not Law?
How do I laugh, when men of narrow souls,
Whom folly guides, and prejudice controuls;
Who, one dull drowsy track of business trod,
Worship their Mammon, and neglect their God;
Who, breathing by one musty set of rules,
Dote from the birth, and are by system fools;
Who, form'd to dullness from their very youth,
Lies of the day prefer to Gospel truth,
Pick up their little knowledge from reviews,
And lay out all their stock of faith in news;
How do I laugh, when Creatures, form'd like these,
Whom Reason scorns, and I should blush to please,
Rail at all lib'ral arts, deem verse a crime,
And hold no Truth, as Truth, if told in rhime?
Gods! with what pride I see the titled slave,
Who smarts beneath the stroke which Satire gave,
Aiming at ease, and with dishonest art
Striving to hide the feelings of his heart!
How do I laugh, when, with affected air,
(Scarce able thro' despite to keep his chair,
Whilst on his trembling lip pale anger speaks,
And the chaf'd blood flies mounting to his cheeks)
He talks of Conscience, which good men secure
From all those evil moments guilt endures,
And seems to laugh at those, who pay regard
To the wild ravings of a frantic bard.
'Satire, whilst envy and ill-humour sway
'The mind of man, must always make her way.
'Nor to a bosom, with discretion fraught,
'Is all her malice worth a single thought.
'The Wise have not the will, nor Fools the pow'r
'To stop her headstrong course; within the hour.
'Left to herself, she dies; opposing Strife,
'Gives her fresh vigour, and prolongs her life.'

All things her prey, and ev'ry man her aim.
I can no patent for exemption claim,
Nor would I wish to stop that harmless dart
Which plays around, but cannot wound my heart:
Tho' pointed at myself, Be Satire free;
To Her 'tis pleasure, and no pain to Me.
Dissembling wretch! hence to the Stoic school,
And there among thy brethren play the fool,
There, unreprov'd, these wild vain doctrines preach;
Lives there a Man, whom Satire cannot reach?
Lives there a Man, who calmly can stand by,
And see his conscience ripp'd with steady eye?
When Satire flies abroad on Falsehood's wing,
Short is her life indeed, and dull her sting;
But when to truth allied, the wound she gives
Sinks deep, and to remotest ages lives.
When in the tomb thy pamper'd flesh shall rot,
And e'en by friends thy mem'ry be forgot,
Still shalt Thou live, recorded for thy crimes,
Live in her page, and stink to after times.

Charles-Town, March 2d, 1764.

THE Printer of this Gazette, having carried on his buſineſs to great diſadvantage for ſome time paſt, for want of A PROPER ASSISTANT, which has not only prevented him collecting his dues, but alſo occaſioned irregularities in his publications; his ſtock of paper for the gazette being exhauſted; and being determined to have all his affairs ſettled by the 1ſt of July next;

THINKS this the fitteſt opportunity to take, and make known to the public, a reſolution to diſcontinue the publication of this paper from the 1ſt of April (to which day his books will be cloſed) to the 1ſt of July next.

AND, as this reſolution is taken purpoſely to ſettle his affairs, and to enable him to carry on his buſineſs on a more extenſive and uſeful plan for the future; he entreats all perſons indebted to him, to diſcharge what they ſo owe, or at leaſt ſettle with him, by the firſt day of June; which he hopes they will do without requiring any other notice, eſpecially thoſe who have been an immoderate time in arrear.

At the ſame time, as he has the moſt grateful ſenſe of every favour that has been conferred upon him, he takes this public method of returning his moſt hearty thanks to all his friends and good cuſtomers, for the countenance and ſupport they have afforded him through the courſe of ſeventy five years that the buſineſs has been conducted here in his name; a continuance of which ſhall always be his ſtudy to deſerve.

Such of his friends as may be diſpoſed to take in this Gazette again, from the 1ſt of July next, will pleaſe ſignify the ſame to him before the 1ſt of June (as none on his old liſt will be ſupplied without particular orders) when he hopes to be provided with a good aſſiſtant, and amply ſupplied with every requiſite for carrying on his buſineſs with more regularity and to more general ſatisfaction than hitherto; to effect which no pains or coſt will be ſpared.

Timely notice will be given, by whom new ſubſcriptions for this paper are to be taken in, in different parts of the province; and country ſubſcribers (firſt paying up their arrears) may depend on having their papers conveyed to them in the moſt expeditious manner.

N.B. The Gazette is the only part of the buſineſs that will be diſcontinued during the interval aforeſaid: All other kinds of PRINTING WORK will be taken in and done, and BLANKS ſold — as uſual.
